Art Display Attracts Parents and Teachers

Art Teachers Hosts to Visitors

Parents and teachers from neighboring schools were invited to the display of art work at Ramsey last week. A tea was held on Thursday, June 5.

Creative art classes of Miss May Seavey displayed chip carving, wood sculpture, and clay modeling in the cases near the auditorium and the office. Mrs. Alice Peterson's classes had two cases showing chip carving.

Displayed on the second floor were fashion illustrations sketched from posed figures, composition studies of groups of people, floral and out of door painting. This work was done by the advanced sketch and ninth grade classes.

The seventh grade classes entered water color interiors of homes and note books. The work has been done by the classes of the three art teachers, Miss Seavey, Mrs. Peterson, and Mrs. Barbara Tower.

V. Rhoades Enters Contest; Wins Achievement Award

Virginia Rhoades, 9A, was given the achievement award for unusual skill and aptitude in creative writing by the Minneapolis Daily Times.

A Teen-Age Achievement Exhibition was sponsored by the Times from April 29 to May 1.

Virginia's winning composition was entitled "Democracy of Tomorrow."

C. I. Hegg's Composition Sung on Music Program

Ninth grade chorus classes gave a program for the school on Tuesday, June 10.

Besides the songs sung by Miss Agnes Smith's, Miss Lois Powell's, and Clarence I. Hegg's chorus classes, vocal and piano solos were heard.

Lois Brummer, Rose Betty Kaufman and Marilyn Abbott played piano solos.

"Old Man River" was sung by Roger Anderson; and "The Lord's Prayer," by Eugene Booker.

"Lord Thy Mercy," composed by Mr. Hegg, was sung by all the 9A's.

GOOD-BYE

Mrs. Allen, Miss A. Johnson To Leave Ramsey Faculty

Miss Anna Johnson, English teacher, 212, and Mrs. Etta Allen, science teacher, 205, were guests of honor at a party given for them by the Ramsey faculty at the Colonial Inn, Thursday, May 22.

Miss Johnson and Mrs. Allen have resigned, and June 13 will be the last day at Ramsey for them.

Russell D. Brackett, principal, was master of ceremonies. Miss Stella Hillgren, Miss Ruth Carlson, faculty members, Miss Amy Molstad, former mathematics teacher, now resigned, and Fred D. Lewis, former principal, now resigned, and Mrs. Jane Chalmers, former visiting teacher, now resigned, gave talks.

Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Lois Powell, Clarence Hegg, of the music department, and Frode Anderson, 104, took charge of the singing.

Mrs. Allen was presented a pair of ear-rings; Miss Johnson, a pin.

Program Given

Original interpretations of songs of the South and of many spirituals were sung by the Plantation Singers at a program given in the Ramsey auditorium on Monday, June 2.

"Dreaming" Chosen Theme for 9A Finishing Exercises

E. Booker to Speak for Class

"Dreaming" is the theme of the 9A Class of June, 1947. The finishing program will be given Thursday, June 12, at 9:00 a. m. in the auditorium.

Ardis Peterson will be master of ceremonies. Two groups from the 9A dramatic creative art class will give the prophecy and the will. Eugene Booker, president of the class, will give a speech.

Joan Barton and Marilyn Abbott will play a piano duet, Lothar Klein and Ruth Ann Martinsen will play piano solos. Ellen Woo and Barbara Lein will play "Malauguens."

Martha Nyvall, Gretchen Swanson, and Kathryn Stevens will give a musical skit.

Solos will be sung by Leila Frappia, Beverly Johnson, and Beverly Newquist. Betsy Ross and Carol Barklay will sing "Danny Boy." Nanette Grill, Judy King, Judy Durham, Janet Gerhauser, Sara Whitten, Frima Himmelman, Nancy Karbach, and Sally Bush, accompanied by Rae Lynne Moore, will sing an original song.

Geraldine Olafson will play a violin solo, "Souvenir de Lubeck." Marlene Knutson will dance a novelty dance. Gwen Olson will accompany the number.

Merit awards and letters earned in gym work will be presented at the close of the program.

In the class are 457 who will leave at noon today. The greater number of the class will go to Washburn in the fall.

Pupils of In-Coming Schools Take Tour of Building

Sixth grade pupils of the incoming grade schools visited Ramsey on Monday and Tuesday, June 3 and 4.

The children were given a tour through the school. At the close of the visit, orange nesbitt was served to the visitors in the lunchroom.

Next fall, the 404 pupils will be put in 12 divisions.

Thoughts of a 9A

During the three years spent at Ramsey, the days have been pleasant. Every day always would hold something new in store.

The many auditorium programs and the Friday evening dances which were inaugurated this year have been enjoyed. These activities and many others will be waiting for those now entering Ramsey Junior high.

Leaving this school will be the same as leaving many happy memories in the book of life. May those now entering find the happiness and joy which we now leave behind.

—Ella Braunstein.

Glad to Leave Ramsey?

Some say they are glad to leave Ramsey; others, are not. Of course, there is the happy prospect of attending senior high school, meeting new people, and entering various activities.

But think of all the fun the three years at Ramsey have been! Do you remember the bewilderment of that first day? Joining clubs, taking dancing lessons, playing in B. A. A. and G. A. A. games were all important.

Are you glad you're leaving Ramsey?

—Mary Falb.

May you always have a safe tent and no sorrows as you travel—a cache for your food and food for your cache... May happiness attend you in all your paths—may you keep a heart like the morning, and may you come slow to the "Four Corners" where man says "Good-night."

Tribal wish of the Iroquois Indians.

9A Class Will

Right now it's about time for the 9A Class to make and read its last will and testament. Oh, yes, the class has a few things to leave. As a class, we leave the whole, big place. (Aren't you seventh and eighth graders happy?) As individuals we will...

John Plachy's laziness to Carl Johnson... Mary Jo Blake's acting ability to Judy Loeffler... Glenna Traver's figure to Nancy Peterson... Gae Rosenberg's cashmeres to Barbara Pfremmer... "Cookie" Grill's craziness to Ann Anderson... John Wright's rowdiness to Terry McFarland... Mary Barnes' dependability to Nancy Schutz... Elsie Erickson's quietness to Ann Marie Erickson... Jim Hughes' good looks to Frank Bachman.

Rae Lynne Moore's appeal to Patsy Blake... Lothar Klein's beard to John Gustafson... Mary Betz's wit to Dahl Egan... John Pollard's brains to Ralph Pollard... "Sandy" Rhoades' dimples to Sally Schuyler... Jim Will's appeal to Jim Berry... Mary Bertelson's casualness to Laura Thorn... Lynn Orme's drawing ability to Susan Kennedy... Barbara Dysthe's hmmm to Arlene Schaber... Tom Near's blush to Ted Stevens... Joan Doran's pep to Betty Schulberg... Marlene Knutson's dancing ability to Bluma Figen... Bill Mentzer's eyes to Jerry Gale... "Butch" Harder's cockiness to Dick Sherman... Ruben Calva's mischievousness to Delano Dahl... Roger Lemieux's smooth clothes to Ned Waldmen... Jim Peterson's all around swellness to Jack Kindler... "Pat" Rozell's laugh to Betty Larson... Nancy Mill's legs to Sylvia Sletto.

Cecile Barsch wills her jewelry to Shirley Bethal... Bill Lifson's buckets to Chuck Swanum... Julie Ann Pixley's baseball ability to Betty Dahlstrom... Tom Dunton's cuteness to Dick Dahl... Janet Burns' shyness to Marion Olson... Connie Whitesell's boyfriends to whoever is lucky enough to get them... Marie Mastrian's sweetness to Lois Ostrander... Janet Neprud's friendliness to Gale Anderson... Dave Cole's cheeriness to Jeff Simonz... Leighton Gardner's eagerness to Jim Lavin... Nancy Hammond's good nature to Marilyn Swanson... Marguarite Jensen's smallness to Myra Noodleman... Barbara Forystek's smile to Theo Ganschow... Wesley Tull's car to Jane Gerot... Merry Day's gaiety to Barbara Zimmerman... Sara Whitten's

Three Years Bring to Mind Facts We Will Remember

During our three years at Ramsey, there are a few things that our class will remember—

Judy Gettlemen for her musical laugh.

Pete Oberhauser and Marilyn Abbott for proving that "those things" can last.

Jack Gurley for his part in the class play.

Ruth Martinsen's ability to play the piano.

Sally Bush's many falls.

When Larry Fenton attended the class play dressed as a girl and as Paul Mandell's date.

The scare Rosemary Anderson gave the school when she was lost.

Jim Peterson's struggle to find what "le albano" means.

The ability of Joe Steen to recite his Latin so rapidly.

Nancy Abrahams for her snappy comebacks.

The numerous expressions the class has added to its vocabulary; such as, "Buddy Babes," "Relax," "Sporty!" "Forget it," "Big Deal."

When Bonnie Roberts, Barbara Lobstein, and Judy Durham dressed in period clothes for an English report.

The picture-taking fiends—even during dressing time in the girls' gym.

The time Ramsey's star girls basketball team beat Washburn's all star team.

Miss Sullivan's jokes and her facial expressions.

Miss Kravig and her numerous committees.

The various fads — bubble gum, bobby pins, squirt guns, hi-y pins, identification bracelets and the rest.

Sidney Hedin for riding the "yellow rocket" (street car, to you) everyday to and from school.

When two windows were mysteriously broken in chorus one day.

When the windows were being repaired in the basement disturbing both civics and Spanish classes.

These are things we will remember!

slumber parties to anyone crazy enough to have them... Gene Booker to "Marny" Rhone... Bob Collias just leaves — he hopes.

What Is Spelled Out?

Sweet is the definition for blonde "Bunny" Lysen.

Umm, good! is Nancy Mills.

Moody is cute little Barbara Bjornstad.

Mum when it comes to Dave and Janet.

Everlasting is the homework at Ramsey.

Real zooty are the boys heinies.

Vivacious are the big eyes of Jean Rice.

Athletic are Joan Meagher and Suzanne Kennon.

Cheery is the personality of Lorraine Kurys.

Active are the muscles of Jerry Brightbill.

Tangible explains Marilyn Johnson.

Idle have been the books of 9A's.

Oh, is the word when Nancy Walker passes down the halls.

Nice is the friendly smile of Lucille Ofstedahl.

Devastating describes Barbara Lobstein.

Reliable is Carol Vorlander.

Anxious are "we" who are "finished."

Widergren is the toast of — the side show.

"Swiftly" is a spit fire red-head.

Nonsense is the favorite word of Wendy Bell, operetta, that is.

Eager are the beavers of our fair class.

"Awk!" we're used to hearing Miss Powell exclaim.

Ridiculous is used always by Dorothy Mehammer.

Endurance was needed at Excelsior!

"Run!" was the popular exclamation at the Sunlight. Remember, Carol?

Miss Esther Gunderson and Mrs. Naomi Grinell, sewing teachers, 102 and 103, had charge of the event.

'47 9A Takes a Stroll in '57

9A Prophecy

One bright rainy afternoon, I felt as if I was getting a headache. To top it off as whipped cream does a chocolate sundae, I went for a stroll.

I had eaten no lunch but instead grabbed a cab and the driver was none other than Sue Winston all rigged up in a driver's suit. Rather surprised I asked her to take me to Mona's sausage plant where Joe served nothing but the best. But Sue told me that it had crumbled down yesterday when Dexter Lufkin, a carpenter, fell against the front wall.

Feeling disappointed, I got out of the cab, and while I was paying my fare Jodene Law and Jeanette Draheim came running around the corner shouting, "Hey, stop! Wait!" This was not meant for me, of course, but since they were in such a rush they were only able to exchange a few words with me and grab the cab. Jodene is the new typist at the "To Date or Not to Date Bureau," and Jeanette, her assistant.

Oh, I was so hot that I just had to go into the drugstore for a cool root beer. Oooohps!! "Excuse me!" was all I could utter, for I had just bumped into Gerry Flemming followed by Joanne Doran, a waitress, Sally Bush, riveter, and Marlene Thatcher who worked with Joanne. They all had appointments at "Durham Beauty, Example Judy," where Judy was to teach them a new sun tan method. (Gerry, especially, needed a new way to go about it.)

After sitting down in a secluded booth, I heard someone yelling over and over, "Give me my penny change! Hear me? Give it to me!" Sure enough it was Mary Betz wearing her White Castle uniform. It was her lunch time then. She soon ran out screaming at the owner of the drugstore, none other than Perry Galvin, a rough roaring gent who was rather angry at the time. While Perry filling out a prescription, for Robert Modeen, a motorman on the Selby streetcar, I finished my drink and left.

What a day of memories! And to add to it all, along came Nancy Karbach — and four children toddling behind. She was holding up a traffic jam of people with her four youngsters and soon Policeman Dick Carlson came up and offered her a jail room or one chance to move along. After he recognized Nancy his coloring changed, and

Ambitions of 9A's

Martha Nyvall — to be an editor of a metropolitan newspaper.
 Paul Derringer — to have his Lat-in the day he's called on.
 Nancy Hahn — to be a fashion designer.
 Jim Deneen — to be on the Washburn track team.
 John Hoiland — to find a needle in a haystack.
 Mary Hayes — to marry a movie star or a football hero.
 Jon Wallace — to get an "A" without trying.
 Bob Chizum — to be a radio announcer.
 John Metz — to spend all his money on cheerios.
 June Berwald — to wake up in the morning and find her hair curly.
 Mary Barnes — to gain weight.
 Donald Tracy — to have a date!
 Robert Kerkeeide — to play with the Red River Valley gang.

she quickly made her exit with the family. At the end of so much, I felt only like seeing a good movie.

I decided to go to the "Snore" Theatre owned by John Snore. On my way to the picture, I met Mary Ann Feehan, now working at Kresge's Five and Ten. She was with Mary Jo Blake who sells dresses at Woolworth's. They both loved their jobs and were hurrying back.

Janet Gerhauser starred in the picture which was called "Sonja Henie the Second." It turned out to be very good although Joan Dahl walked up and down the aisle so much that I could not concentrate. Joan was the new usher and was assisted by Jim Hill and Tom Near. She was always on the job.

On arriving home, I heard two of my neighbors in a hot "over the fence" argument. To my amazement it was Genevieve Harms and Shirley Overby holding forth.

I went into the house and retired for a short sleep. Wow! It surely seemed like a real Ramsey day!!

Girls in 309 Active in G. A. A.

It's a stone; it's a bird. No, it's the ball Lonnie Garvis hit for a "homer" for 309 — first base, second base, third base, and home. What happened to the ball? Oh, here it comes now.

No, it's not quite that easy for all of the girls of 309, but the spirit is wonderful. Each girl tries hard to do her best and play the game.

Marjorie Rundquist, Shirley Erickson, "Jo" Johnson and Suzanne Mulvan lead the girls.

Field Day Held

Field Day was held for Ramsey students on Wednesday, June 4. Preliminaries were held on Tuesday, June 3.

No records were broken at the meet this year.

Rooms 214 and 1 placed first and second for the ninth grade; room 307 was first for the eighth grade and 211 and 212 tied for second place; rooms 308 and 303, were first and second for the seventh grade.

The entire school went out on the Washburn field to watch the finals.
